

The present study was aimed to studying the effect of seasons of year on physical clinical examination , hematological, biochemical constituents of both blood and rumen liquor in apparently healthy dairy cattle and fattening calves, studying the effect of stages of lactation on physical clinical examination , hematological, biochemical constituents of both blood and rumen liquor in apparently healthy dairy cattle ,studying the effect of some selective digestive disorders on physical clinical examination , hematological, biochemical constituents of both blood and rumen liquor in apparently healthy dairy cattle and fattening calves with therapeutic trial and study its effect

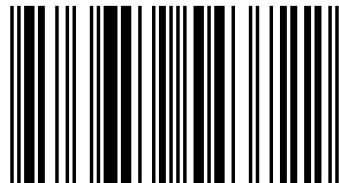

Sabry Mousa

Aspects in rumenology of dairy and fattening cattle

Sabry Mousa

Dr.Sabry Mousa obtained my PhD degree in veterinary medicine ( ruminant medicine ) in 2011. Since that i had worked in national projects in rumenology titled(DIAGNOSTIC, THERAPEUTIC AND PRODUCTIVE VALUE OF THE RUMEN CILIATES IN RUMINANTS)and (BANKING OF RUMEN CILIATE FOR IMPROVEMENT OF RUMINANT FARM ANIMALS PRODUCTION) .

978-3-659-54372-2