

Prof. Tamer Fahmy, M.D., Ph.D.

Current Position:

A Professor of Critical Care Medicine,
Cairo University Hospitals,
Deputy Chief Editor, EJCCM
Secretary General, ECRA
Training Center Coordinator, CUCCMD

Dr. Fahmy is a graduate of Cairo University School of Medicine and trained in Cairo University Hospitals since 1991 then trained and became an Alumnus from Cleveland Clinic, Cleveland, Ohio in 2007. He has held several positions including: Director of Maadi Military Hospital ICUs (2011 – 2012); Assistant Co-Director of New Kasr Al-ainy Hospital (1200 Beds hospital) (2008- May 2010); Director of Bank Al Ahly ICU (16 beds ICU) (2007-2008); Co-Director of Experimental Research Lab (2007-2010); Co-director of post Cardiac Surgery ICU, Naser Institute (20 beds ICU) in 2002-2004); and Training center coordinator of Cairo University Critical Care Medicine Department, an American Heart Association Certified Training Center (2011-till now).

Dr. Fahmy's main field of research and investigation is in invasive and non-invasive mechanical ventilation mastering the use of all advanced tools of monitoring and management, including Electrical Impedance Tomography, Independent lung ventilation, Transpulmonary pressure monitoring and remote ventilatory monitoring. In this respect, he is the course Director for the ONLY accredited MV course in the region (from the highest ranked body of accreditation for MV, the American Association for Respiratory Care). Moreover, he is a Training Center Coordinator for CUCCMD, and Training Center Faculty for BLS, and instructor in ACLS, and FCCS from the American Heart Association and the Society of Critical Care medicine. Similarly, he has a great interest in Cardiac Electrophysiology including non-invasive arrhythmia and syncope diagnosis, and invasive cardiac arrhythmia ablation especially Atrial Fibrillation and Ventricular tachycardia.

Dr. Fahmy is the Secretary General of Egyptian Cardiac Rhythm Association, member of the European Heart Rhythm Association, and a founding member of the Egyptian College of Critical Care Physicians.

He is a Deputy Chief Editor of the Egyptian Journal of the Critical Care Medicine as well as an International Reviewer in several international Journals. He has more than 25 international original Articles, several review articles, co-edited more than 10 book Chapters including a chapter in NIV and more than 50 original abstracts in local and international conferences. Current H-Index = 16

Dr. Fahmy is a winner of many national and international awards from the European Heart Rhythm Association, Egyptian Society of Cardiology and an Innovator Award Winner from Cleveland Clinic.