

NEWS STORY

Africa's Movers and Shakers in Corporate Online Learning 2018

London » 13 Sep 2018 » Learning News » Bob Little Press & PR

A list of the one hundred most influential people in online learning learning in Africa is published; tech entrepreneur Rapelang Rabana, Chief Digital Officer of the South African learning technologies company Rekindle Learning, is listed top.

Share this page

Follow this company

Get updates from Bob Little Press and PR

- RSS newsfeeds
- LinkedIn
- Twitter

Latest news

Africa's Movers and Shakers in

84. Hesham Elmahdy - Vice Dean of FCI and Chair of the IT Department at Cairo University, and a champion of e-learning within the university for the last 15 years.

Silver

76. Adele Botha - Principal Researcher at CSIR Meraka, South Africa, leading research on mobile user experience and mobile learning. She is also a research associate at UNISA, serves on the editorial board of several journals and sits on the advisory boards of national and international initiatives.
77. Joe Abah - DAI Nigeria's Country Director who uses his skills as a broadcaster, blogger and social media user to promote e-learning, among other things.
78. Charles Ayo - a Professor at Covenant University, Nigeria, who champions e-learning and m-learning within Nigeria's education sector.
79. Xavier Muianga - Dean of the Center for Academic Development at Eduardo Mondlane University, in Mozambique who, among other things, focuses on e-learning and blended learning.
80. Laura Czerniewicz - Director of the Centre for Innovation in Learning and Teaching (CILT) at University of Cape Town. Involved in policy work internationally, she's also a keynote and panellist presenter in South Africa and internationally, as well as serving on the advisory boards of various international educational and technology publications.
81. Hassan ElKalla - Chairman of the Board of Trustees at Badr University and a pioneer in integrating technology in education for students' learning.
82. Adedoyin Adeleke - among other things, Founder and Executive Director of the International Support Network for African Development (ISNAD-Africa), Nigeria, which has initiated an online mentoring programme to create a technical support mechanism for research students in universities across Africa.
83. Maina WaGokō - Vice Principal, PD & Outreach and Programmes Manager at The Aga Khan Academies in Kenya, who is a thought leader within the educational sector in East Africa, especially in the use of technology in education.
84. Hesham Elmahdy - Vice Dean of FCI and Chair of the IT Department at Cairo University, and a champion of e-learning within the university for the last 15 years.